

Access to Parks

At Parks California, we believe all Californians deserve the opportunity to explore and enjoy the natural diversity that our state has to offer. As a key nonprofit partner to California's State Parks, we are working to increase access for all, expanding opportunities in rural and urban parks, and creating life-long relationships with nature. To help close the access gap, Parks California will make smart investments to raise public awareness and enhance visitor experience by addressing barriers that keep many Californians from exploring and appreciating State Parks and public lands. By doing so, we will cultivate the next generation of park stewards for a thriving and stronger California State Park system.

Your donation will support these types of programs and more:

- School fieldtrips and digital access to parks
- Transportation for underserved communities to visit parks
- Development of culturally relevant programming in parks
- Outdoor leadership training and workforce development
- Creating low cost accommodation options near parks
- Camping/outdoor gear lending libraries
